

IMPACT REPORT 2023

YEAR IN REVIEW

Dear Friends,

For the Child Parent Institute, 2023 was another year of meaningful progress toward our goal of ending child abuse and strengthening families. This progress is only possible because of the generous support of the many friends and partners who share our vision.

As an organization, we continually evolve to keep pace with the needs of our children, youth and parents in our communities. Over the 2023 year we have been adjusting to our work after COVID. Like all of us, some things have shifted in the way we do our work. However, our agency's principles and the work we do within our community have not only remained the same, but have strengthened.

In April of this year in partnership with the Cotati-Rohnert Park Unified School District we opened a school-based Family Resource Center at John Reed Elementary School located in the City of Rohnert Park. This center is designed to be accessible to all children and families within the community. Since the time we opened our doors, we have served over 180 parents. Services that are offered include parent education, resource navigation, and basic needs such as diapers, clothing and food. We provide a warm, hospitable, safe place for talk, food, and rest. We have helped a single mom with five children pay for her PGE bill, as her power was shut off for over 6 weeks. We welcomed in an unhoused family, who came through our door, the father, who had worked a long night shift, was able to stretch out on our couch and take a much needed 3-hour nap knowing his family was safe with us.

I would like to encourage you to consider becoming a part of our Giving Community. We have set a goal of signing up 250 more members to pledge $10 a month. Your monthly commitment to the CPI Giving Community fund helps us to provide vital resources to our children and families where and when they are needed most. Help Sonoma County kids and families thrive by joining today. Go to calparents.org/how-to-help/givingcommunity or click here to join!

Thank you for your support, Robin Bowen Executive Director

CPI PRINCIPLES

Adverse childhood experiences impact lifelong health outcomes. Thus, we will assess the needs of each individual and family and offer them prevention, intervention, and advocacy services.

We embrace and respect all families as our clients and believe that interventions should empower both parents and children. We respect that seeking support or information is how change and growth will occur and we view this as a family strength, not a deficit.

We have a strength-based and prevention-focused philosophy. We use both proven evidence-based and innovative practices to help heal children, educate and support parents, and enhance parental competence.

We collaborate with other agencies and organizations to efficiently deliver services.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion are the foundational components of what we are, why we exist, and who we serve. As we continue to navigate community crises, systemic inequities, and historical trauma, we strive to foster belonging, purpose, and opportunity for families in our community. We are committed to equitable practices, accountability, and transparency with our DEI efforts, both internally and with the communities we serve.

Pablos Story

Pablo is a father of an 11-year-old. He self-referred for in-home parent education as he was feeling challenged by his son's behavior, and lack of enthusiasm to go to school. He was feeling overwhelmed and concerned. He was looking to learn new more effective ways of communicating with his son. While receiving 1-1 parent education, Pablo was referred to Resource Assistance as he also shared facing financial difficulty after losing his job. After 15 sessions, Pablo reported his confidence as a parent increased. He created a before and after school routine which he believes has helped his son to get his homework done, be more rested, and feel better about going to school. He reported that gaining an understanding of his own trauma has helped encouraged him to parent in a way that allows for feelings to be expressed, his own and his son's. He added, "The support and education I have received from CPI has been eye-opening and my relationship has improved. It means everything to me."

NEW DIRECTIONS SCHOOL

At our school we celebrate all the great and small things that make us indivduals. We are committed to creating an environment where students learn, grow, and thrive.

NEW DIRECTIONS HIGHLIGHTS

During the summer of 2023, New Directions collaborated with the Sonoma County Office of Education and the Life on Earth Art organization to deliver a Follow Your Heart program with New Directions students. Through a delivered curriculum that included life skills development, students created hearts with angel wings that are now displayed throughout the campus. As one student shared with others, "At first I thought it was boring, but I didn't realize how my thoughts could be turned into a piece of art to share with others."

COUNSELING

At the heart of our mission at CPI is our commitment to protecting the children and families in our community. Our Child & Family Counseling Clinic provides comprehensive mental health services to children ages 0-18 and their families.

 Disorder (PMAD) Program

- 97% of the clients who completed services met all or part of their goals

Carla's Story

Carla is a young mother who accessed Perinatal Mood and Anxiety Disorder (PMAD) therapeutic services at CPI. She was referred to CPI by her healthcare provider after it was identified that after the birth of her daughter she was struggling with depression, feeling low energy, overwhelmed, and that she was not getting support from her partner at home. Carla's provider worked with her in her home, and using a structured curriculum, they were able to address the things that were difficult for her. After 12 sessions, Carla reported she was able to consistently use the self-care skills she had learned, that she was able to be productive in how she used her time, and that she has been able to ask for help at home by communicating in an assertive manner instead of with frustration and anger. Although at intake she had scored in the clinical range for depression and anxiety symptoms, at close - her scores were no longer in the clinical range.
